Bob Siren presents Monarch Butterflies

Bob is a graduate of George Washington University who moved to Smith Mountain Lake from Northern Virginia in 2004. He is the co-owner of Design & Installation Landscaping Co. which installs backyard water gardens, pond and pondless systems.

He managed Diamond Hill Nursery for twelve years, is a contributor to Discover Smith Mountain Lake Magazine (Weeders Digest) and is Garden Gab's seasonal host on radio stations WSLK 880 AM and 98.3 FM.

He is busy starting up his new garden center in Vinton, Power Landscapes.

Janet Hickman, M.D. presents Dancing in the Daffodils

Janet is an avid daffodil enthusiast and hybridizer who grows more than 1800 different varieties of daffodils in her Lynchburg garden.

Janet is an American Daffodil Society Accredited Judge and Judge Instructor as well as the Second Vice President of the Society and state Daffodil Chair for the Garden Club of Virginia, responsible for the Garden Club of Virginia Daffodil Show.

Not only does she judge at shows but she enters shows nationwide.

Janet enjoys reading and writing about daffodils. She has recently begun hybridizing a few new varieties.

Heather O'Bryan presents Building Beautiful Containers

Combining her love of gardening and writing, Heather O'Bryan, Fanatical Botanical columnist and blogger for the Roanoke Times, is a dedicated horticulturist with a plethora of experience in the landscape field.

Growing up, she spent summers helping her "extreme gardener father" tend three giant veggie gardens and cultivating a love of plants and vegetables that is still fresh with her today.

After graduating summa cum laude from the Virginia Western Community College horticulture program in 2013, Heather worked at nurseries for several years, building on her knowledge and love of the landscape field.

Heather is working with Roanoke-based event specialist, Riot Rooster, to produce The Early Bird Craft Fair and Garden Primer and the Flock and Roost Equinox Festival in Roanoke.
